EXCITED HORSE BREAKS HIS LEG

A horse belonging to and ridden by a Portuguese fell and broke his leg on the belt road near the residence of W. N. Stewart last Friday, at the same time affording excitement for an auto party passing that way at the time.

In the auto were Mr. and Mrs. M. Rohrig and daughter and Paul Isenberg, returning from Koloa to Lihue. They first met the horse and rider coming at full tilt from toward Lihue. After having passed for some little time, a noise was heard behind and a few seconds later the horse dashed by the machine again, coming toward Lihue. Soon after passing, the horse fell upon the ground. Examination showed that his left fore leg had been broken.

The Portuguese stated that the animal had gone wild and he had found it impossible to control him. The police shot the horse the following day.

FIRST ROUND OF TENNIS SUNDAY

Final arrangements were completed Sunday for conducting the Wall & Dougherty cup tournament. A permanent cup committee, consisting of the following members, was elected: Chairman, W. H. Grote; secretary and treasurer, H. Vincent; Dr. Glaisver, A. G. Hime and J. P. Thompson.

All four matches in the first round will be played off next Sunday on the Lihue courts, play beginning at 2 o'clock.

The original plan of deciding permanent possession of the cup by challenge has been abandoned in favor of holding a regular tournament semi-annually, the winners of three tournaments to be awarded the trophy.

Next Sunday's line-up will be as follows:

E. W. Carden and K. C. Hopper vs. A. R. Glaisver and E. C. Merrill.

A. Hornor, Jr. and Harrison Rice vs. W. H. Grote and C. S. Dole.

W. C. Avery and F. E. McCall vs. E. D. Murdock and J. P. Thompson.

A. G. Hime and Eric Knudsen vs. G. T. Greig and A. C. Bannham.

TOT LEADS CHASE FOR COURT CLERK

SCENE: Front entrance to the county building.

TIME: Last Tuesday.

A little Hawaiian girl, aged about 12, had been brought from Hanalei to be sent to the Girl's Industrial School, at Honolulu. She was in the waiting auto, and kindly Judge Dickey was talking to her, while the court clerk went into the building to get certain papers. Upon sight of the clerk (Mr. Dean) returning, the mite of humanity bounded from the machine and started running full speed down the driveway toward the street.

"What is she doing?" gasped Dean.

"From my viewpoint," calmly observed the court, "I should say that she is exercising."

"Exercising nothing!" blurted out the now excited Dean. "That girl is making her get-away."

By that time the girl had reached the road and turned down toward the Fairview, increasing her speed, if anything. Dean did not wait for the court's answer, but gave chase. There was some lively "exercising" down the road until Dr. Derby's office was passed, when the girl bounded over the stone wall into the field of young cane and began negotiating it with the agility of a scared hare.

The chase led several hundred yards across the field to a point opposite the wireless office, when the girl turned and "doubled back" through the cane. When she reached the road again opposite THE GARDEN ISLAND building, the almost breathless minion of the law was close behind her. On the road a machine, occupied by a travelling salesman, was just starting up. The girl gave one bound and landed in the seat by the "drummer," at the same time pleading that he take her away. "The villain still pursued her," however, and the girl, after being talked to in a kindly way, consented to go to the home of Mr. Dean's mother. What the latter said to her is not stated, but in a short time she was quite willing to go to Honolulu, and left in the steamer that afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Dean, who saw her comfortably located in the Oahu school.

An impressive feature of this particular case is that the girl is by no means wayward, but a cruel fate has made of her a dependent.

GAMBLERS WILL WORK OUT FINES

Eighteen Filipinos were arrested at Koloa a few days ago on the charge of gambling, and were released upon furnishing bail in the sum of $5 each to appear the following day for trial. The next day they showed up in court all right, pleaded guilty to the charge and each one was fined $4 and $1 costs, making exactly the amount deposited as bail.

And then the Filipinos pulled off a stunt. They announced that they would not pay the fines but would work the amounts out for the county. There was nothing to do but return their bail money and put them to work.

It is understood that the Filipinos are regularly employed men in the district. They will be absent from their jobs for ten days.

ONE CRANK LEFT TO MUDDLE THINGS

Despite the fact that the Kauai Chamber of Commerce (which represents every interest on the island) has reached a definite conclusion in regard to Kauai's first harbor, the project has been endorsed by the authorities at Washington and a bill for the harbor at Nawiliwili introduced in Congress; and, moreover, the owners of the port known as Port Allen have withdrawn in favor of Nawiliwili—there seems to be one "bird" around ready to "foul its own nest." It is just possible that the party is a resident of Honolulu, in which case he has been guilty of some very dangerous meddling. If, however, he is a Kauai citizen, steps will doubtless be taken to locate him and find out why he is trying to obstruct public business, against the expressed opinions and wishes of practically the entire island. The following from the Honolulu Star-Bulletin explains the matter:

Wade Warren Thayer, secretary of the territory, received a surprise this morning, when he received through the mail an anonymous pamphlet advocating a harbor at Port Allen, Kauai. The envelope in which the pamphlet was contained bore only the postmark of Honolulu as evidence of where it was mailed.

"I have no idea who sent me the missive," says the secretary, but the big surprise to me is that someone is still advocating Port Allen as a harbor. Kauai's Chamber of Commerce, which is supposed to represent completely the whole island, has come out with statements and maps proving that they want the government to spend money at Nawiliwili and now comes this plea for Port Allen."

The pamphlet is a revision of the old pamphlet which was issued on the subject in 1912. It bears a brief legend at the top stating that it "Holds good for 1915, as well as for 1912." In the back of it a few typewritten pages have been fastened with glue, to bring the argument up to date.

"I have written to the Chamber of Commerce of Kauai," said Mr. Thayer when asked what he would do with it, "and although I do
